SPECTACULAR R.A.F. ATTACK FRENCH COAST

Raid Concentrated On The Gun Emplacements Near Cap Gris Nez

LONDON, Oct. 21 (Reuter)-The Royal Air Force staged a terrifle and spectacular attack on the French coast shortly after dusk yesterday. The bombing was so, violent that the ground on the English side of the Channel quivered as salvoes of bombs were dropped.

The bombing appeared to be concentrated on the German long range gun emplacements near Cap Gris Nez. Although a low mist hung over the sea, flashes of exploding bombs, estimated by watchers at the rate of 100 per minute could be seen on the Kent coast.

Britain Can Now Talk To Japan

LONDON, Oct. 21 (Renter)-The face of Britain had been scarred but its spirit remained unchanged and unconquered, declared Mr Arthur Greenwood, Minister without Portfolio, speaking at Wattfield yesterday.

Mr. Greenwood said that one could not at this juncture prophesy who was going to be in this war and who was going to keep out of it before it was finished.

"I am hoping that Japan will not be so foolish as to enter the struggle but neutral countries know now that Britain is not about to BOMBERS FLY OVER be hustled, humiliated and beaten as neutral countries may have thought some months ago and that Britain is stronger than at the first impact of the attack

Important new steps have been taken to redouble Soviet—armed strength to meet any future emergency especially the speeding of naval and air construction.

The military budget this year totailed 57,000,000,000 roubles. Discipline in the army and navy was tightened, the unified command of all armed forces was re-established by the abolition of the system of political commissars, anti-aircraft precautions and defense were established on a nation-wide basis and new military and naval training schools to provide skilled officers were opened.

Harbouring Of British Subjects

FURTHER THREATS OF PUNISHMENT

LONDON, Oct. 21 (Reuter)-Further threats of punishment, extending to the death penalty, were made by the German military commander in Belgium and Northern France, for harbouring British subjects.

The announcer over the Brussels Radio declared that many British soldiers had escaped from prison camps, who are usually in possession of French or Belgium papers.

The period for notification of British subjects and the period of hospitality extended to them expires on Oct. 30.

All subjects of Britain and the British Dominions, men and women between the ages of 16 and 60 come within the order.

It is true the local cotton trade has been hit by the war but Britain has helped to relieve the situation by purchases amountng to £3,000,000.

In the meantime the Egyptian Government is carefully watching the economic situation. Recent precautionary measures include the allotment of funds for the protection of reservoir catchments in the event of air raids and also the careful nursing of stocks of commodities.

Steps are also being taken to swell the country's coal reserves. With this end in view the State Railways have decided to purchase 5,000 tons of coal from Natal at 18/9d-a ton, to be delivered in Egypt at a freight rate of 70/- a
